

To Whom It May Concern:

The purpose of this unsolicited letter is to acknowledge my deep gratitude for the outstanding professional legal services of Sibylle Grebe, who was appointed in court to handle the affairs of my father, at the behest of Adult Protective Services, beginning in December of 2006.

In spite of immediately discovering first hand how difficult, or even abusive, my father could be to deal with, Sibylle set about with great determination to pursue his best interests, and to communicate effectively and sensitively with me, his estranged son.

My father was adamantly opposed to having anyone, including me, delving into his affairs. He was a tough former Marine, a recluse and an undiagnosed paranoid schizophrenic, so dealing with such an individual and his violent tendencies was difficult at best for anyone. Sibylle nonetheless made multiple visits to his home, in the interest of making a fair and constructive assessment of his personal and medical needs, as well as how best to deal with his assets and his estate.

When it became apparent that my father was not going to be able to remain in his home with a caregiver, she did everything in her power to undertake an accurate and appropriate evaluation of my potential to provide the kind of care that he so clearly needed. Throughout the necessary legal processes, even though I had also retained my own counsel, Ms. Grebe made sure that I was kept informed as to my father's progress and how the legal system worked in these matters, while remaining completely true to her responsibilities in the case, as prescribed by the court.

At the direction of the court, she and I met together in the presence of my father so she could see our interaction. Having been made acutely aware of how difficult he was to deal with, Sibylle devoted the necessary time and effort to determine whether I was really up to the task ahead of me. In the end, with his best interest foremost in her mind, she ultimately agreed to my being named as his conservator. My challenge to the custody and court actions of the temporary conservator was successful.

For anyone who might consider retaining Ms. Grebe's services, I can vouch enthusiastically for her professional abilities and her character. Sibylle takes her job seriously and maintains integrity and fairness in all she does, both for her firm and her clients. I would not hesitate to retain her again and trust her implicitly.

Sincerely,
